

► Like us on facebook
www.facebook.com/baliprivat villas

► Follow us on Twitter
www.twitter.com/balivilla

► Member of BVRA
Bali Villa Rental Association

Balebali.com Article

BALI VILLAS | PRIVATE VILLAS FOR RENT IN BALI

In 2012 this irrigation system fell under the protection of UNESCO and the rice fields around Bali are a World Heritage Site.

6 Best Rice Fields Views in Bali

<http://www.balebali.com/baliarticles/6-rice-fields-views-bali.html>

Bali island is one of such island in the world that is blessed with many beautiful sights and one of the tourist attractions on the island of Bali is the rice fields of Bali. Bali rice fields farming is unique because it uses the Balinese water irrigation system called Subak. In 2012 this irrigation system fell under the protection of UNESCO and the rice fields around Bali are a World Heritage Site.

The island rice fields regularly appear featured in postcards because they give us the sense of being in Tropical Island with unique beauty. Many foreigners who visit the island of Bali will include rice fields tour in their vacation itinerary.

Some of the best areas in Bali to see beautiful rice paddy terraces are in areas described below.

Ubud - Tegallalang

This is the most famous place to see rice terraces as it's also near from other famous destinations - the Ubud village and on the same way to other destinations in central Bali such as Gunung Kawi, Tampak Siring, Tirta Empul, Kintamani and many others. Located just a few minutes more from the Ubud village to the directions of Kintamani you will find this beautiful rice terraces on your right. Though the rice fields considered smaller than other places but it has exotic shapes and surrounded with cafes which offer relaxing cushions to maximize enjoying the scenery.

Jatiluwih

Jatiluwih in Tabanan region will be the second best destination to see beautiful rice terraces. Here you will find a vast expanse of rice terraces. Just go along the Penebel village near from the hot spring of Angsri. From Denpasar it will take around 1 to 1.5 hours to get to Jatiluwih village. On a clear day you will find yourself on spectacular rice fields with Mount Batukaru as the background. Come to Jatiluwih when the rice fields are before harvest and you will find the green to yellow color rice terraces just like a beautiful painting.

Busungbiu

This is another place which is quite similar to rice fields in Pupuan village. You will enjoy the view of rice fields from high places. If you are a photographer just find a Pelapuan village around the area of Busungbiu and this will be a must visit place for you.

Soka Beach

If you turn left on the intersection to Pupuan then a few kilometers more you will reach the Soka beach and in front of Soka beach you will find beautiful rice terraces.

Tirtagangga

I like this spot which is located in Karangasem regency just a minute walk towards the hill from Tirtagangga water palace you will find this beautiful rice terraces from above the hill. Because it's so large and with the background of Mount Lempuyang, I like coming in the morning when harvest time to take photographs of harvest activities here.

Pupuan

Another rice terraces destination is Pupuan village in west of Bali. Around 1.5 hours drive to Singaraja on Pupuan village you will find series of beautiful rice terraces as you moved along to the hill. The best place is around several kilometers from the main road of Gilimanuk, next to a small warung on the right side. You will see stunning rice terraces along the hill and the ocean in far away sights. Simply beautiful.

Bali Villas Network

Jalan Tunjung Mekar 43 no. 16 Kerobokan Seminyak, Bali, 80361 Indonesia

Phone : +62 361 738962

Phone : +62 361 8058531

Fax : +62 361 738959

Mobile : +62 81 337 625 688

Email : info@balebali.com